Dr. Amy Shaw is a Family Practice Physician, who recently retired from the Providence Medical Group in Santa Rosa. Her medical interests include the prevention and treatment of osteoporosis in both women and men.

"I have witnessed the adverse and life-altering changes that can occur with untreated osteoporosis; a major fracture can instantly turn a fit older person into a frail one, much like what we see after a stroke. Prevention of these fractures has become my passion." Men are welcome.

Kudos to Brian Crawford for last months talk on Marin historic trails. Though many of us know the trails we did not know who built them. Thanks, Brian, for your tireless work!
